Pleasant Termination of a Courtship of Years' Standing.

Miss Gillespie Joins Her Affianced in Yokohama.

He Went There as a Missionary, and She Followed at His Request.

MARRIED.

FAGG-GILLESPIE.—On Sept. 25, at Ferris Seminary, Yokohama, Japan, by the Rev. E. S. Fagg, Rev. John G. Fagg to MARGARET W. GILLESPIE, of Jersey City.

Louie laughs at locksmiths, and separating continents and oceans are trifles to the little god. John G. Fagg was a student at Rutgers Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, graduating in 1883.

He became pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church at Cobble Hill, and was making an enviable reputation, when the spirit moved him to go among the idol worshippers of China and Japan to become a missionary at Amoy, in the Celestial Kingdom, a little more than a year and a half ago.

But as boy and man he had known and learned to love pretty Margie Gillespie, the daughter of James H. Gillespie, a composer, who was devoutly communistic at Dr. Brett's church on Bergen Heights.

Miss Gillespie was a teacher in Public School No. 8 in Sherman Avenue, Jersey City, having been in class there in 1884.

They were blighted between these two—the eloquent young parson and his boyhood's friend and sweethearts—and he left for the Orient.

Last month the waiting Margie received a summons to join her love in Yokohama, and on Aug. 16 she set out on her journey of $8,000 miles, one-third the distance around the globe.

The brave little woman went, by way of Vancouver's Island, and was nearly five weeks on the ocean.

She had forsaken father and mother, and her old familiar church to cleave unto a husband in accordance with the scriptural injunction, and on Aug. 21 she joined the Rev. John G. Fagg, John G. Fagg, the president of the Ferris Seminary, for the young ladies of the Milado Empire, performing the nuptial ceremony.

She added: "I may never see her again, for you know my misfortune is that I am a wife."

"My daughter is very bright, and is loving and kindly. I know that their marriage, though it separates us, was for the best. God be with them!"
